

Presented by the
Whittier Area Peace and Justice Coalition

Co-directed by Dr. Paul Steinberg of Harvey Mudd College and Kevin Foxe Bicycle Revolution documents the experience of 15 students in a one-of-a-kind college course that takes place entirely on bicycles. Together the students explore a question on every young person's mind these days: Is meaningful social change possible? In their search for answers, they meet with mayors, city council members, community activists and city staff who are on the front lines of struggles to make sustainability a reality.
